

A gift welcome by everyone.

Yet whilst it's inexpensive, a sunscreen is a safe gift you can give to every one ... from the mighty 'A' list corporate buyer to the guy that delivers your mail because almost everyone uses it ... especially in the Christmas holidays. When they say ... "thankyou, that's a good idea", you know they mean it.

Every sachet will carry the prestige of your Company or brand, because every label is custom made with your name, even your logo or mobile number. You choose the image and you write your Christmas greeting. Or, you design a graphic that appeals to your customers.

Make your staff happy too!

Sunscreens are low cost, so you can hand out 10 or 20 sachets to every staff member to give to their contacts. They know and meet customers you never see, and your staff will get a real buzz if you give them the privilege of choosing the people they would like to thank. Here's where they'll give them away.

Personalise the labels with the names of your sales people, they'll feel special when you print their name beside your logo.

Display them at reception, or your customer service counter.

Give your drivers a handful of sachets, and let them give one away with each delivery they make in December.

It's a sachet of SPF30+ sunscreen, personalized with your name and logo.

Our Christmas is the middle of summer, so it's the beach, the BBQ and the great outdoors. As most people expect to be outside sometime over the Christmas break, you know this is one Christmas gift they'll be pleased to get. They will keep it in the car or handbag, and whether they use over the holidays or later, they'll get a nice feeling that you thought of them.

Post them with your Christmas cards. Smile to yourself as you send them to friends freezing in the northern hemisphere!

Add a sunscreen with your November statements. They are approved by Australia Post for mailing.

We have 6 ex-stock labels, or if you prefer your own artwork, we'll design a label for you.
